

in collaboration with
Cornwall Council Waste & Recycling

SEAL - Schools Educational Activities Link workshop

Cornwall 2018

Making a positive out of a negative

FACT:

Plastic waste in the ocean is set to treble within the next 10 years X

Empower your local school with the knowledge of the effects that Single Use Plastics have on our environment with our fun & educational SEAL workshops ✓

BOOK YOUR SESSION
TODAY

The assembly was dynamic, informative and motivating, engaging with pupils of all ages. The follow-up workshop for our chosen year groups was excellent, giving the pupils a hands-on experience of the types of plastics washed up on our local beaches.

Ellie Mitchell, Joint Head of School, St Merryn School

The assembly was brilliant, really thought-provoking. They were a great team and their passion and knowledge shone through. The reason it was so gripping was they told us some quite shocking facts, but backed it up using the real evidence they had collected from the beach.

*Sue Sloan, Year 1 teacher,
Carclaze Community Primary School*

SEAL - Schools Educational Activities Link workshops

Our workshops are run by co-founders of Beach Guardian CIC, Rob and Marine Biologist Emily. They can be flexible but usually start with a full school assembly, then a 90-120 minute session, normally with Year 5 pupils, which are split into four teams working across four different stations, such as:

1. Sorting and sifting plastics to identify micro plastics, nurdles and the coloured and different types of plastics
2. Talking with Emily about plastics with organisms attached as rafting and invasive species and other natural items found washed up as well as items that are not natural
3. Sticking, making and gluing – artwork using the cleaned sorted plastics
4. Awareness – manufacturer, lifestyle, government engagement
5. Understanding Cornwall's household waste and recycling collections.

WELL-SUITED TO A HALL OR GENERAL CLASSROOM

The workshop and assembly were great. The children were enthused by the informative and fun approach to such an important message.
Mr. Burchell - Trevisker Teacher

How to book your session:

The Beach Guardian assembly and workshop session is FREE of charge to Cornwall Schools. Dates are throughout school term times but subject to availability, so to reserve your session please email to seal@beachguardian.co.uk or call 01841 521132.

Beach Guardian is a Community Interest Company and donations are optional but appreciated and help us continue our work.

